A Partial View of the Burpee Trial Grounds at Fordhook Farms Which Are Nationally Known for the Progressive Work Accomplished There

The Burpee 800-Acre Fordhook Farms

Doylestown, Pennsylvania

REALIZATION of the constant need for improvement in the seeds that mean so much to the gardens of America led to the establishment of Burpee's great Seed Farms, where we can grow, under our own supervision, just the kind of seeds that meet our ideals of highest quality.

A Farm of Service

Famous as the largest and most complete trial grounds in America, Fordhook Farms are devoted solely to serving the needs of our customers. Many special strains of Burpee vegetables and flowers are grown here. After a visit to Fordhook, Luther Burbank wrote us: "Your Fordhook Trial Grounds were the best of all my eastern object lessons, and I had many. I had no idea of their extent and value, not only to yourself, but to your customers, and eventually to everyone who cultivates the soil."

Beautifully located on a shady eminence overlooking a broad, sloping valley is the Burpee home-stead. Thus, constant personal attention can be given to the various activities at the Farms.

Fordhook Farms are located at beautiful Doylestown, Pa., 24 miles directly north of Philadelphia. It is easy to get to Fordhook from all directions. Many customers and friends traveling by auto stop off at Fordhook Farms. We would be glad to have you visit The Burpee Flower Gardens. There is always something of interest for garden lovers to see from early spring until frost.

In the spring may be seen a display of Crocus, Hyacinths, Tulips, Narcissus, and other spring-blooming flowers. Later, Iris, Peonies, Poppies, Phlox, Snapdragons, Zinnias, Balsam, Celosia, Salvia, Gladiolus, Dahlias, etc. A cordial welcome awaits you.

Sweet Peas at Floradale—the Waving Fields of Color Stretching Clear Across the Valley

Our Beautiful Floradale Farms

Ideally Located at Lompoc, California

“Seeds that Grow.” “The best seeds that can be grown!” These well-known Burpee mottoes aptly express the ideals of the Burpee business since its beginning, fifty-six years ago. They represent our standard of dealing with the many customers, our friends, who have made it possible for us to build up the largest mail order seed business in the world.

To be absolutely sure that the seeds we sell are the very best that can be grown, many thousands of extensive trials are made at our two mammoth farms—Fordhook and Floradale. Our unusual facilities for extensive growing and testing enable us to see how the different varieties grow under various climatic conditions.

“The California Home of Flowers”

The first Spencer Sweet Pea in existence was brought to America by W. Atlee Burpee and grown in California. For the further development of Sweet Peas, which had long been a Burpee specialty, Floradale Farms were established. Large areas at Floradale are now devoted to the cultivation of many varieties of flowers, which here produce seeds that are healthier and harder than could be grown elsewhere. Such vegetables as here develop the best and strongest seeds are also grown extensively.

*New

Floradale is so beautiful, with its acres and acres of colorful flowers, it is now familiarly known as “The California Home of Flowers.” Visitors are always welcome.

W. ATLEE BURPEE

Luther Burbank's Plant Experiments to be Continued by Us

Luther Burbank, known as the plant wizard of the world, was a cousin of W. Atlee Burpee, and the two men had much in common. Both were masters in the creation of new varieties of plants that were better than those in use. Mr. Burpee built up the largest mail order seed business in the world, while Mr. Burbank confined his efforts almost exclusively to his garden work, selling his seeds only in a modest way. How natural it was that this past year (summer of 1931) arrangements were made whereby we took over all Mr. Burbank's Flower and Vegetable experimental work, so it can be continued and developed. We also will have the exclusive distribution of the seeds from Luther Burbank Flower and Vegetable productions. This year a limited number of varieties are offered on page 160, in the back of this book.

Everyone knows of the marvelous work of this world-famous hybridist, and we feel sure our customers will quickly and generously avail themselves of these Burbank Seeds. From Mr. Burbank's numerous letters to us we quote: "I remember well my former visit to your wonderful Floradale Farms . . . where I saw so much of interest to me." Kindly turn now to page 160

JOHN BURROUGHS

LUTHER BURPEE

John Burroughs, the Naturalist, Admired Burpee Productions

John Burroughs, the most famous American naturalist, was an ardent believer in Burpee's Seeds. The photo to the left shows Mr. Burroughs lifting a squash growing in his garden. He was so proud of this squash grown from Burpee's Seeds that he sent it on to his friend, Henry Ford, and wrote him that he had raised squashes aggregating 115 pounds in weight from a hill of four plants. Mr. Burroughs was an old customer of ours and often wrote us how well pleased he was with the splendid results produced by Burpee's Seeds.

Burpee's VEGETABLES

What a great difference often exists between the quality of some vegetables and others of the very same variety. By using Burpee's Seeds you can be assured of always having the highest quality, the most tasty and delicious vegetables that can be grown.

ASPARAGUS

Asparagus grows better and produces earlier in the spring if planted in well-drained soil having a southern exposure. Sow one ounce of seed for 40 feet of drill; 2 pounds of seed produce enough roots for 1 acre. Ask for a free copy of the Burpee leaflet, "How to MAKE AN ASPARAGUS BED."

9 Mary Washington Seed

A most remarkable, almost rust-proof Asparagus

This Asparagus, which has been selected by the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., has proved to be nearly rust free. The plants form large clean shoots which are thick and heavy. They are long and straight, with closely folded tips. The color is rich dark green, tinted darker at the tips. It is a heavy yielder and a long-lived producer of exceptionally fine flavor. The performance of the mother plant of Mary Washington, which is still growing in the trial grounds of the Department of Agriculture, is ample proof of the hardiness and longevity of this variety.

Green Bush Beans

Beans belong to the tender class of vegetables, so that the seed cannot be sown until the weather is quite warm. In the vicinity of Philadelphia, early May is about the right time for the first sowing of bush beans. A warm, well-drained, sandy loam is best suited. The beans are most delicious if they are picked before they have reached full size. You will find them very tasty and appetizing.

To provide for a continuous supply, seed should be sown every 10 to 14 days up to August 10th. Where summers are hot and dry, sow up to the end of May and again from July 15th to August 10th. Plant in rows not less than 18 inches apart, cover with 2 inches of soil, and firm the surface to assist germination. One pound of seed sown thinly fills a row 250 ft. long; usually 90 lbs. of seed are sown per acre.

11 Full Measure

The plant is of perfect bush growth, branching freely, and bearing a good crop of pods. Hardy, and matures moderately early in the season. The fully round pods are very fleshy and strictly stringless, deep green in color, and 6 inches long. Fine grained, good flavor, and of excellent quality. The seeds are irregularly marked with fawn and reddish brown.

14 Extra-Early Red Valentine

(Improved Round-Pod Strain!) Pods 4 to 5 inches long, sharply pointed, round, and very fleshy, being deeply saddle-backed and brittle, but show strings when nearly fully grown. The seeds are marked with fawn and deep red. The plants make a dwarf and compact growth, 15 to 18 inches tall. A hardy, early, and productive quality variety for market and canning.

Even when fully grown, the pods are meaty and juicy, lacking the faintest signs of any strings. Always tender, brittle, and of very fine flavor. The plants are medium-large, of somewhat spreading growth, with dark green foliage, and always of strictly bush form. Enormously productive. Noted for their hardiness and extreme earliness. Wax Bush Beans

Burpee's Brittle Wax

33 Burpee's Brittle Wax ◎

*The Most Popular of All
Wax Bush Beans*

In saying "best of all," we merely repeat the opinion of thousands of gardeners who have been growing Brittle Wax year after year. The bushes are remarkably hardy and prolific, bearing a tremendous crop of attractive Beans. The pods are about 7 in. long; slightly curved and so fleshy that they are round in cross-section. Burpee's Brittle Wax is always stringless and tender, with a rich and tasty flavor. Brittle Wax has made a record everywhere, as it combines heavy yield with early maturity and unusual quality. Its only real rival is Burpee's Kidney Wax, which, however, is a flat-podded variety. The seeds are white with black eye.

Postpaid: Pkt. 15¢; ½ lb. 25¢; lb. 45¢; 2 lbs. 80¢; 5 lbs. $1.80; 10 lbs. $3.00

44 Burpee's Kidney Wax ◎

The tastiest of all beans. Very productive. Attractive in appearance. An outstanding variety in every way. It is pronounced the most tasty not only of the Wax Beans but of all Beans. Pods are almost straight, broad, yet quite thick, meaty, and entirely stringless at all stages of growth. A strong grower, forming an upright bush 18 to 20 in. in height. The fleshy pods measure 6 to 7 in. in length, ½ in. broad, and ¾ in. thick. Color of the pods is a bright lemon-yellow, reflecting their tenderness and delicate flavor. The seeds are white with irregularly brownish black eye.

43 Davis' White Kidney Wax

A typical market gardener's variety because of its even maturity, attractive appearance, and productiveness. Pods are large, 6½ to 7 in. long. Very uniform, flat, and extremely sturdy. Their appearance is beautiful, but the quality is only fair. They must be used before fully grown, as otherwise they are inclined to become fibrous. Color of pods is a clear bright yellow. It is an old variety that is grown year after year because the showy pods find a ready sale in the market. Bushes are strictly dwarf. Very productive.

Postpaid: Pkt. 10¢; ½ lb. 25¢; lb. 40¢; 2 lbs. 70¢; 5 lbs. $1.60; 10 lbs. $3.00

55 Burpee's White Wax (Stringless)

An exceptionally fine white-seeded, flat-podded Wax Bean of really choice quality. Very productive, bearing attractive, well-formed, large pods continuously for many weeks. The bright lemon-yellow pods are straight, brittle, meaty, tender, and entirely stringless at all stages of growth. Seeds, being large and pure white, are also desirable as shell beans.

◎ Follow the Bull's Eye

If you are in doubt as to which varieties to choose, make your selection from those marked with a bull's-eye (◎). They represent, in our opinion, those which do well under the most varied conditions of soil and climate. Yet, all varieties offered have their valuable qualities. Season of maturity, varied conditions of soil and climate, and market preferences demand that a book as widely distributed as BURPEE'S ANNUAL include a large number of different varieties.

48 Pencil-Pod Black Wax O

Best of all the dwarf black-seeded Wax Beans. It is early and productive, bearing nearly straight pods of the Creaseback type, 6½ to 7 in. long. Always stringless. Tender, brittle, and fleshy. Never show any fiber.

49 Surecrop Stringless Wax

A most prolific variety, of superlative quality. Handsome rich yellow pods, slightly curved, averaging 6 to 7 in. in length. They are ½ in. wide and almost round. Very meaty and sweet. Perfectly stringless at all stages. Black-seeded. The habit of the plant is free branching, but sturdy and upright, every branch carrying a heavy crop of the magnificent pods. Valuable for its productiveness and disease-resisting qualities. It is classed as an early variety and has proved to be a quick seller.

SHELL BEANS—For Use As Dried Beans During Winter Season

Extensively grown everywhere for use as dried beans. The small-seeded varieties, like Robust Pea Bean, are sown at the rate of 30 to 45 lbs. per acre. The larger-seeded varieties require 60 to 75 lbs. per acre; 1 lb. for 150 to 200 ft. of row. Shell Beans possess high nutritive value, due to their large percentage of protein.

Bush Lima Beans

Lima Beans are a tender vegetable and the seed must not be planted until the nights have become quite warm. The middle of May is usually safe in the vicinity of Philadelphia. Stick the seeds edgewise, eye down, 5 inches apart in the row and cover 2 inches deep with fine soil. One pound will sow 150 feet of row.

63 Burpee Improved Bush Lima ◎

The pods are borne abundantly and are truly enormous in size. Well filled with handsome beans, which are both larger and thicker than those of the popular Burpee's Bush Lima—and fully 8 days earlier!

The pods are borne in what might be called "clusters" of from 5 to 8. Pods are 5 to 6 inches long; 1½ inches wide. The full size beans are of luscious flavor. This variety differs from Burpee's Bush Lima in having much larger pods, producing more beans, and being considerably thicker. The growth is vigorous, with heavy foliage. Full-grown bushes measure 30 inches in height, and 24 inches across the top. Mature in 85 to 95 days after sowing, but should not be planted before the soil has warmed up and the weather is quite settled.

60 Burpee's Bush Lima

This is the original dwarf, large-seeded Bush Lima as first introduced exclusively by Burpee in 1890. It is an immense yielder. The pods and beans, however, are not so large, nor are the bushes so prolific, as those of the Burpee Improved Bush Lima. The bushes, 18 to 24 inches tall, are of stout, erect growth, yet branching so vigorously that each plant develops into a rounded bush from 2 to 3 feet in diameter.

or Improved Henderson Bush Lima This variety belongs to the class of Small Limas. Grown in the South under the name of "Butter Beans." Very hardy, maturing a week before Burpee's Bush Lima, and worth growing in the North. Green shell beans are of delicious sweet flavor. Plants are of true bush growth and bear tremendously.

65 Burpee's Fordhook Bush Lima

Introduced by Burpee—The Most Popular of all Bush Lima Beans

Burpee's Fordhook Bush Lima is in a class by itself. The pods are borne in what may be termed "clusters" composed of from 4 to 8 pods each. The individual pods are 4 to 5½ in. long and 1¼ in. wide. Quite often they are as much as ¾ in. thick. Each pod holds 4 to 5 of these large, plump beans. The flavor of Fordhook is outstanding—a delicious, sweet taste, not unlike chestnuts. The plants grow 20 to 30 in. tall and make a spread of almost 2 ft. The strong, upright bushes withstand both whipping rains and strong winds to a remarkable degree. Because of its extra-early maturity, Fordhook will bear profusely even where the summers are comparatively short.

66 Burpee's New Philadelphia Bush Lima

The Earliest Maturing of all Limas

This excellent Burpee variety is of special value because it matures extremely early. Pods are 4½ in. long and 1⅛ in. wide, each containing four fair-sized beans of splendid quality. The earlier pods are set quite close to the ground, and clusters of 6 to 8 pods are usual. Plants are of upright habit, producing pods with the greatest abundance well to the tips of the flower-spikes. Southern planters will find that it surpasses the Sieva or Butter Bean, whereas northern planters will benefit from its earliness and productiveness.

Superior Crops from Burpee's Tested Seeds

Oconomowoc, Wisconsin
September 3, 1931

W. Atlee Burpee Co.:

You will be interested, perhaps, in the photo sent herewith showing what Burpee's Giant Pole Beans will do. The vines are now twenty feet high on the poles, and are still climbing. The Tomato plants shown in photo average nine and ten feet high.

We think Burpee's Seeds are the best, and have used them for twenty years. We know Burpee's Seeds grow.

My 100 x 100 ft. home garden last summer yielded enough to supply a family of seven with fresh vegetables all summer, and permitted the storing for winter of ten bushels of Potatoes and a good supply of Carrots, Parsnips, Onions, Celery, Turnips, etc.

Pole Lima Beans

Pole Lima Beans greatly outyield the bush varieties per square foot of garden; but they require poles or other supports, and mature considerably later. Stick 6 to 8 seeds edgewise, with the eye downward, around each pole after the nights have become quite warm. One pound of large-seeded varieties for 75 poles.

98 Burpee's Giant-Podded ◎

The largest podded of all Pole Limas. Pods measure from 7 to 8½ inches in length, with a width of 1½ to nearly 2 inches. The green shell beans are extra large, and are invariably of superb flavor. The vines easily attain a height of from 10 to 12 feet. Pods are produced in clusters of from 4 to 8 until the vines are killed by frost. It is an outstanding variety in many ways and hence enjoys great popularity with many gardeners.

95 Burpee's Sunnybrook ◎

The popularity of this fine Pole Lima Bean is due to its extreme earliness and tremendous prolificness, each spike carrying from 5 to 10 pods of large size. Each pod is closely packed with 4, and often 5, large, thick, meaty, light green beans of the finest quality. It is considerably earlier in producing pods ready for picking than any other large-seeded Pole Lima, and has proved to be even as early as the Carolina or Sieva Bean. The vines are of most vigorous growth, producing many lateral or side branches, all of which are literally covered with the deep green pods throughout the season. The plants bear well from the ground up.

96 Early Leviathan ◎

Early, hardy, and prolific. Produces large Lima Beans earlier than any other strain excepting Burpee's Sunnybrook Pole Lima, and is also extremely productive, both early and throughout the season. A strong grower, clinging well to the poles. It is a sure cropper. Pods differ from those of other early Pole Limas in being straighter and longer. They are borne in large clusters, and contain 3 or 4, and sometimes 5, large beans each. An excellent home garden and market variety.

103 Carolina or Sieva

The "Butter Bean" of the South

The vines grow quickly and mature a fine crop of the small but attractive pods. The plants bear until frost. This variety is extremely popular throughout the South. It is well worth growing in the North because of its earliness, hardiness, and wonderful productiveness. One pound of seed will plant about 150 poles.

Burpee's Table Beets

In order that a constant supply of tender young beets may be had throughout the season, it is advisable to make repeated sowings. Seed may be sown as early in the spring as the ground can be worked into good condition. Sowings should be made for succession at least once a month up to the end of July. We recommend making a large sowing early in July to produce a supply of full-grown beets for winter use. If the beets are gathered with the approach of cold weather, and kept packed in slightly moist earth in a cool cellar, they will remain in perfect condition throughout the winter until spring.

The seed should be sown thinly in drills from $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 in. in depth, leaving 12 in. or more between the rows to allow for cultivation. When well started, thin the plants to stand 3 to 4 in. apart in the row. One oz. will sow 100 ft. of drill; 4 to 6 lbs. are needed per acre in drills. Thinnings can be used as greens.

121 Burpee's Black Red Ball ⓠ

Remarkable for its uniform shape, deep-colored flesh, and fine sweet flavor. Globe-shaped. Smooth and free from any woody fiber. Both skin and flesh are of an unusually deep rich red, this intensity of color being retained when cooked, making the beets most attractive for both canning and pickling. Although very early (quickly reaching a diameter of 2 in.), if left growing, the larger beets retain their fine flavor and deep coloring. Fully grown beets measure 3 in. across. Excellent for the home garden, and one of the best varieties for market on account of its earliness.

Burpee's Danish Prize

Brussels Sprouts

A quality vegetable. The plants are hardy, and in our section will live through the winter without any protection. The quality and flavor of the sprouts are improved by frost. Sow seed thinly in drills early in June and transplant to rows 3 to 4 ft. apart in the garden. One ounce sows 500 ft. Spray the plants to destroy aphids.

162 Burpee's Danish Prize ◎

Large, solid, sweet sprouts

A strong grower that produces a large quantity of fine, solid, delicious sprouts that are thickly set on the stalk. The sprouts develop on nearly the entire length of the stalk at about the same time, consequently a very large crop can be gathered. Even the sprouts formed at the base of the stalk are tightly folded, and are as solid as those higher up. Unexcelled for home use and market.

Burpee's Cauliflower

For an early crop, start the seed indoors, and set out in the open about the end of April. For a main or fall crop, seed should be sown from June 1 to July 1, and the young plants set out during the latter part of July. One ounce gives 1,000 to 1,500 strong plants. Grows to perfection in a rich, fertile soil.

253 BURPEEANA ◎

This is Super Snowball as offered by Burpee. It stands out as a most valuable variety. In the tests of the Pennsylvania State College, it appeared as the best of all strains, maturing not quite so early as Burpee's Fordhook. On our own trial farms, it proved itself head and shoulders above all other varieties. It is an early variety, with the heads forming all at one time, showing a uniformity of size, shape, and type that is truly astonishing. The plants make a compact dwarf growth, with ample foliage of a beautiful dark green color. The inner leaves curve over the head and serve as good protection against the weather. The head itself is almost round, having a beautiful pure white, smooth curd, altogether free from leaves between the curds, and presenting a most attractive appearance when cooked.

In good soil the snow-white heads measure 8 to 10 inches across. An excellent market and home garden variety. Should be sown so the heads mature during either early summer or late fall.

246 Burpee's Fordhook ◎

A Marvelous New Early Cauliflower

The earliest of all varieties we have ever tested. Makes a firm, solid head 6 to 9 inches in diameter. Ready in about 85 days. It will head up well even under unfavorable conditions, when all other early varieties are almost a complete failure. Plants are dwarf and compact, measuring about 16 inches in diameter. The stem is short, and the quality of the curds is excellent.

245 Burpee's Dry Weather ◎

Our special strain of this excellent variety is unsurpassed. Highly valued because of its smooth, medium size heads and delicious flavor. Drought-resistant, early, and of foremost quality. Produces solid, pure white heads only a week later than Burpee's Best Early. Heads are also considerably larger, with more foliage, hence not so suitable for forcing. Particularly adapted for growing in dry locations where most other varieties would fail to make good heads. An excellent home garden and market growers' variety.

Postpaid: Pkt. 15¢; 1/4 oz. 85¢; 1/2 oz. $1.45; oz. $2.50;
4 ozs. $7.50; 1/2 lb. $13.75; lb. $25.00

247 Early Snowball Many market gardeners claim for Early Snowball first place for both early and late planting. A popular extra-early variety of dwarf, compact growth. Fine solid heads of good size and well-rounded form. The heads are pure white, with a close, compact curd of superb quality. This is the standard variety for commercial purposes and it is also excellent for the home garden.

BURPEE'S CABBAGE

Cabbage succeeds best in cool, moist climates, and in rather heavy, friable loams with gravelly subsoil. Early Cabbage is sown in the hotbed or in the house about the middle of February. Late Cabbage for winter use is sown late in May or early June. One oz. will produce about 2,000 plants. If seeded outdoors, sow one oz. to 300 ft. of drill. Two ozs. sown in the hotbed gives sufficient plants to set out an acre; sow 6 ozs. in the open seed-bed for planting out one acre. Screen the late seed-bed with cheese-cloth to prevent an infestation of cabbage maggots. Select all plants carefully.

168 Burpee's Extra-Early Jersey Wakefield ◎

Special Stock of Remarkable Uniformity

Dwarf, compact plants that mature very early. The heads are erect, conical, and remarkably uniform in every way. We believe our "Special Stock" of Burpee's Extra-Early Jersey

Wakefield to be the earliest maturing, most uniform, and finest bred strain of this variety in existence. The seed offered has been grown on Long Island from selected plants.

166 Fordhook Forcing ◎ Small, perfectly round heads, extremely firm, and of unusual solidity. The compactness of the plants permits setting them 8 in. apart in the field, which assures maximum yields. It is a first-early variety, admirably adapted for forcing in the hotbed or for growing in the home garden. Matures in 6 to 7 weeks after setting in the garden.

◎ GOOD AS GOLD ◎

This mark (◎), now usually referred to as bull's eye, was used by the ancient alchemists to represent gold in their sign language. We have used the bull's eye for many years to mark in our catalog those varieties of vegetables which we consider the very best of their class and the most satisfactory for general cultivation throughout the country. If you are in doubt as to the varieties to choose for your garden, we suggest that you make your selection from those marked with a bull's eye.

Chinese or Celery Cabbage

*Chinese
Cabbage
Wong Bok*

Wholesome and tasty, either cooked or raw, Chinese Cabbage has found its way into a large number of American gardens. It is indeed an outstanding vegetable, as it can be served as salad like Lettuce, or, when shredded, makes a delicious cole slaw. Boiled, it is far more palatable than ordinary Cabbage. Where summers are cool, it may be sown in spring, but in the vicinity of Philadelphia seed sown early in August has proved to be most successful.

211 Wong Bok This has impressed us as a particularly desirable variety. The heads, which are rather short and broad, are composed of well-blanchéd, tightly folded leaves. The ribs are juicy and agreeably pungent. Ask for our free Service Bulletin on Chinese Cabbage, which gives complete cultural directions and cooking recipes.

Burpee's Carrots

Sow the seed thinly in shallow drills early in the spring and make succession sowings every 2 weeks up to the early part of July. When the plants are well started, thin out the small early sorts to 2 in. apart in the row, and large late varieties from 3 to 4 in. They should be sown in rich, mellow soil, deeply worked, and receive constant cultivation during growth to insure smooth, straight roots. For winter storing, sow a long row about the middle of June, which will make full size roots before cold weather sets in. One ounce of carrot seed will sow 250 ft. of drill; 3 pounds of seed are required to drill one acre.

BURPEE'S CELERY

For the earliest crop, sow in a hotbed during February or March. For the fall or main crop, seed may be sown in the open ground as early in the spring as the soil can be worked into good condition, and the plants should be set in the rows in July. Celery requires a rich, well-manured soil and plenty of moisture so that it can make a continuous growth. To blanch the stalks, hill with soil, boards, or paper cylinders. One ounce is sufficient for 600 feet of drill. One ounce sown in the seed-flat gives 8,000 to 10,000 good strong plants; 2 ounces are needed for planting one acre.

262 Burpee's Golden Self-Blanching Celery ⓠ

Burpee's Golden Self-Blanching

Easy
Blanching

264 Tall Golden Self-Blanching Selected French-Grown Seed, from Original Strain

This new tall strain, selected in France from Burpee's Golden Self-Blanching Celery, differs from the original by making a decidedly heavier and taller growth. The plants are healthy, vigorous, and of rapid growth. The foliage is also quite distinct from the original strain, and has been bred for disease resistance—a decided advantage for the commercial grower. The slender heart blanches easily and thoroughly.

It is an extra-early variety which should be carefully tested by Celery growers to determine its adaptability to their particular growing conditions and its market value. Because of their taller growth, the plants require more labor when blanched with earth, and the tall stalks require a deeper crate.

It has quickly become a great favorite with many market growers.

272 Burpee's Fordhook Celery

The Largest, Most Solid, and Finest Nut-Flavored Celery in Existence

A distinct and foremost variety for fall and winter storing. The plants make a dwarf, compact growth, averaging 15 to 18 inches high. Because of its compact habit, Burpee's Fordhook Celery is by far more easily blanched than the tall varieties. Although comparatively dwarf, the plants are so solid that they weigh fully two pounds each.

Pure White When Blanched

Burpee's Fordhook Celery is of remarkably fine quality. The stalks are smooth and entirely free from stringy fibers. The flesh, when cut, measures over one-half inch in thickness. When properly blanched, the stalks are pure white, the small tender heart showing a tinge of light buttery yellow. Burpee's Fordhook Celery has an unsurpassed crisp nutty flavor. The plants will keep in perfect condition way into the following spring.

Muskmelons—Cantaloupes

The most suitable soil for melons is a warm, sandy loam well worked and enriched with old compost. Sow the seed in slightly raised hills, 4 to 6 feet apart each way. Eight to ten seeds are placed in each hill in a circle and are covered with an inch of fine soil. Melons thrive best on well-rotted compost, and a shovelful of old manure should be placed about $\frac{1}{2}$ foot deep under each hill and firmly tramped down.

The seed should be planted after the soil has warmed up and the weather is quite settled—about the middle of May. One ounce of seed for 40 to 50 hills; 2 to 5 pounds per acre.

Burpee's Watermelons

Rich, rather sandy soils produce the finest crops of Watermelons, but a well-drained loam, especially with a southern exposure, is also suitable. Two shovelfuls of well-decomposed manure should be mixed with the soil under each hill. Watermelons should not be planted until the weather is quite warm. The plants grow vigorously and for this reason the hills should be about 6 to 8 feet apart where the crop is grown on a larger scale. Place 6 to 8 seeds edgewise, with the eyes downward, in a circle in each hill, and cover $\frac{1}{2}$ inch deep with fine soil. One ounce will plant 20 to 25 hills; 4 to 5 pounds per acre.

588 Burpee's Fordhook Early ⓠ

An excellent quick-growing melon, that will mature in sections too cool for most varieties. Delicious pink flesh. Matures in 85 days under normal conditions.

The melons are large—they weigh about 25 lbs. each—and slightly oval in shape. The dark green rind is mottled with stripes of still deeper color. The skin is thin and therefore the variety is not suited for long-distance shipping, but for sale in local markets it is ideal on account of its luscious sweet flavor and handy size.

Burpee's ONIONS

Onions are one of the most popular and healthful vegetables grown in American gardens. They are highly prized for their tonic qualities, and doctors everywhere are advocating their use in the diet because they are so wholesome and nutritious.

A good, well-drained soil, reasonably fertile and well pulverized, will give the best crops. Cover the seed lightly and thin the seedlings when they are 3 to 4 inches tall so that they will have room to develop freely. When the bulbs have reached maturity, bend down the tops to hasten ripening before the onions are harvested. One ounce of seed for 200 feet of drill; 4 to 5 pounds per acre.

693 Australian Brown

An excellent keeping variety, of medium size, varying slightly in color, some being lighter, others of a darker bright reddish brown shade. The Onions are flattened and mature a few days ahead of the Danvers varieties. The flesh is always crisp, mild, solid, and juicy. Good for market and home.

Burpee's PEAS

The food value of Peas is exceedingly high. The varieties here listed are those which experience has proved to be the best. The flavor of these peas, especially in the newer and improved varieties, is beyond comparison. To provide a continuous supply, the hardier, round-seeded varieties are sown in spring as soon as the ground is fit. For later sowings, the wrinkled-seeded kinds are preferred on account of their superior flavor, but they are less hardy. Succession sowings should be made at intervals of 10 to 14 days during the cool weather. One pound of seed will sow 120 feet of single row. In drills, 100 to 150 pounds are required per acre.

PEPPERS

Pepper seed should be sown in February or March in a warm hotbed or in a box placed in a sunny window of a warm room. The seeds require plenty of heat and moisture to germinate. Transplant the young seedlings as soon as they can be handled. One ounce produces 1,500 plants; 3 ounces required for setting out one acre.

819 Burpee's Chinese Giant

The Largest Mild Red Pepper

An Ideal Variety for the Home Garden

Chinese Giant makes a vigorous growth, developing into heavy and stubby plants seldom more than 2 feet in height. The plants are well branched and thickly set with enormous peppers. It is not unusual to find a half dozen peppers growing so close together that they will touch one another as if in a single bunch. The stems and side branches are strong and sturdy, carrying the heavy fruits well above the ground.

Burpee's Chinese Giant Pepper not only is the most productive, but matures very early. The fruits are a rich dark green, turning to a brilliant scarlet-red when ripe; 4 to 5 inches broad and fully as long. The flesh is the thickest ever found in any large size pepper, being strictly mild and sweet.

RADISHES

There are three distinct classes of Radishes—Spring Radishes, Summer Radishes, and Winter Radishes. Every complete garden should include some of each class.

The Spring Radishes can be grown almost all the year round, and are important as a forcing crop during winter. They mature in the open in from 25 to 40 days, depending on the variety and the weather. They develop best during the cool season. Light sandy soil, rich in organic matter, is essential to produce crisp and tender radishes. Plant as early in the spring as possible, and make succession plantings every 10 days. Where the summers are hot, sow until the middle of May, then stop, but make three more sowings during August. Sow the seed thinly in shallow drills and cover with about one-quarter inch of fine soil. One ounce is sufficient for 100 feet of drill; 8 to 10 pounds of seed are needed to sow one acre planted in drills.

Burpee's Table Turnips

Turnips develop best during cool weather, and in the vicinity of Philadelphia a fine crop can be grown from seed sown early in the spring. Turnips are most important as a fall crop. For fall or winter use, sow the seed between the middle of July and August 20 in rows not less than 18 inches apart, and cover with $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ inch of fine soil.

The most popular method, however, is to broadcast the seed either between the rows of corn or in the cultivated orchard. The early white varieties are often sown as a catch crop after early Potatoes. One ounce will sow 400 feet of drill. In drills, 1 to 2 pounds per acre, sown broadcast, 4 to 5 lbs. of seed are needed per acre.

MAROON

Double
Cornflowers

Centaureas Are Very Showy

Extremely Popular for Decorative Purposes

This class of Annuals includes some of the most showy flowers grown today. All of them are easy to raise and do well in an average garden soil. The Imperial Cornflowers, the Double Cornflowers, and the Sweet Sultans make a magnificent display of elegant, long-stemmed blooms, which are highly valued for cutting. Centaurea Americana is by far the largest of those we list. The Dusty Millers, with their silvery white foliage, are excellent for use in borders and for edging.

Popular Double Cornflowers

(Centaurea cyanus fl. pl.)

An old favorite of which we have a particularly desirable strain, noted for its vigorous growth, large size flowers, and extreme doubleness of its blooms. The plants grow 2 to 3 ft. tall. They are a mass of flowers from June until frost. In addition to making a fine display in the garden, the plants produce cut-flowers galore until frost.

Pansies

Burpee Blend of Giant Fancy Pansies

2413 To the lover of fine Pansies this blend is highly recommended. It contains the largest and most beautiful of all blotched Pansies that have been developed over a period of years through close and careful selection. The Burpee Blend contains only well-formed expanded flowers of uniform, large size, with an unusual range of colors and markings. The texture of the blooms is heavy and thick, so that the flowers are well waved and crinkled on the edges.

Burpee's Blend of Giant Fancy Pansies is composed of well-rounded strong plants that will bloom profusely throughout the spring and summer. The individual blooms are carried on long stems and they are, therefore, highly valued for cutting.

Burpee's Prize-Winning Garden, Philadelphia Flower Show

The Beautiful Flower Shows are Helpful To Flower Lovers Everywhere

A GREAT awakening of interest in flowers has taken place during the past few years. Not only have individual flower lovers carried out their natural impulse to raise more and better flowers, but whole communities have become more flower-minded.

Those of our customers who take extended auto trips will have observed, in passing through certain towns and villages and along some farm highways, the scarcity of flowers around the homes, while the moment they enter other districts they are everywhere pleasantly greeted with the greatest profusion of beautiful, fragrant flowers. How unfortunate that more families do not have such displays of bright, pretty flowers to enjoy from day to day!

Organized Flower Work

Fortunately, in all communities there are those who count it a pleasure to work in and out of season to render a service to their friends and their community. In many localities flowers have won a host of just such friends and workers, and their number is fast increasing. Many of these earnest men and women have organized, or are members of, flower clubs. An interesting development has been the formation of flower clubs by employees of industrial concerns—a source of much enjoyment for them and their fellow workers. Numerous schools have organized junior flower clubs. Some of these clubs are interested in all kinds of flowers, while others specialize in certain classes, such as Dahlias, Gladiolus, Sweet Peas, Zinnias, etc. In some states the flower clubs have federated into state organizations, which often are able to supply speakers, lantern slides, and other means of entertainment for the local club meetings.

Civic organizations, commercial clubs, Chambers of Commerce, and other organizations in many cities and towns are encouraging an increased interest in beautiful flowers by conducting contests and offering substantial prizes for the most attractive and novel home flower gardens.

Some of the agricultural colleges, in addition to offering courses in flower gardening, are in a position to assist the local flower clubs by furnishing competent speakers for meetings, and also judges for the flower shows. The U. S. Department of Agriculture co-operates with the State Agricultural Colleges in extending a better knowledge of flower culture.

The work of the flower clubs generally culminates in an annual flower show, at which the members enter competitive exhibits for prizes, all of which stimulates interest among the members, and also entertains and educates the public to realize the fascination there is in growing flowers for home enjoyment.

Throughout the year we hear from numerous Burpee customers who win prizes at their local flower shows. Burpee's Seeds are prize winners. Many of our customers send us photos of their flowers at the shows and in their gardens.

Many of these splendid Sweet Peas were introduced by Burpee. REGAL LILY - LILUM REGALE

In Beautiful Colors

We offer in this catalog an unusually large selection of Lilies. They represent those varieties which have stood the test of time and are considered standard. They include various types, and the colors are a delight to any flower lover. From these you may choose the varieties you like best.

Lilies do best in a well-drained sandy soil, which should be fairly rich, and the plants should be given plenty of water during periods of drought. To grow Lilies to large size, the bulbs should be planted deeply. Lilies do best if placed among low-growing plants so that the soil is shaded against the hot sun.

BURPEE'S NEW DAHLIA 8093 ATLANTIC CITY

OFFERED for the first time—a strikingly handsome prize-winner. With its startling beauty, it combines a sturdiness and vigor that will make it a favorite with gardeners. "Atlantic City" is a Formal Decorative Dahlia with gorgeous flowers of a very rich golden autumn shade. Its amber-gold is intensified with orange, salmon, and a hint of bronze. A color beautiful in itself and blending readily with any others. Flowers measure five to seven inches across. Their keeping quality is remarkable, cut flowers lasting from four to six days. The plant grows $3\frac{1}{2}$ to 4 feet high, of strong, upright growth, requiring no staking. Never troubled by leaf-hopper, thrip, or any other Dahlia pest or disease. "Atlantic City" is a most profuse and early bloomer, flowering from mid-July until frost. We have cut 37 flowers from one plant.

"Atlantic City" was awarded first prize in the Open-to-all section for the best vase of 25 blooms in several shows in which it was exhibited, as well as a Certificate of Merit.

One of Our Great Specialties

Burpee's Gold Medal Dahlias

The Dahlias of today, which you may order for your garden, far surpass what were considered even the best exhibition Dahlias just a few years ago. As a Dahlia admirer, be sure to plant Burpee's Gold Medal Dahlias this year, and see the difference. Whether you select the massive Decorative type or the small Pompon varieties, which recently are winning so many admirers, you will be delighted. We list the popular favorites, including many outstanding varieties created and introduced by Burpee.

The American Dahlia Society has adopted a classification of all Dahlias, according to the formation of the flowers, and after each name we give a key showing the class to which the variety belongs. Thus: F. D. = Formal Decorative; I. D. = Informal Decorative; C. = Cactus; S. C. = Semi-Cactus; Po = Pompon.

Quality Farm Seeds

When planting a field, every farmer has in mind just one object—to obtain the best crop possible. Better quality, a little extra yield beyond the average crop—these mean extra dollars and cents at harvest time. The first requirement for a good crop is good seed. Experience proves it pays to use only seeds of known quality. Cheap seeds waste the time, the labor, and the fertilizer used in preparation for the crop, and no after-care in cultivation can make the crop what it might have been. Burpee's Seeds—the best that can be grown—are widely used by progressive farmers everywhere.

Root crops—one of the most important classes of farm products—should receive more attention. Their high food value makes them very desirable for stock feeding all the year round. They are easily stored throughout the winter. Mangel Wurzels and Sugar Beets are listed on page 16; Carrots for Stock Feeding, on page 23; Turnips and Rutabagas, on pages 56 and 61.
